

The Self-Proliferation

Tae-Hoon Kim

The unconsciousness of a human can be replaced with words of multiple selves. In other words, multiple selves are something composed of suppressive components while they are not accepted to a man's personality from diverse complex reasons living a life. It is not easy to feel or perceive the existence of many selves suppressed inside for a subject of his/her own. The inner self that we are not very acquainted with exists in a form of diversely multiplied. In other words, it exists in various forms in the inside of us. In other words, it exists in many forms in the inside of us through dismantling, division, and replication.

we need to develop all multiple selves in right ways without completely identifying any one of them with himself/herself, and we can see the versatile aspect of a self through an alter ego. Furthermore, I intended to express the prototype of a self through a proliferated image of a self after being diverged in many forms in terms of the extension of the theory. Also, I would like to pursue a possibility of new expression by using a illustrative character image from a perspective of its morphologic aspect.
